

Scouting For Food

Written by David T. Bauman KF7MCF - Last Updated Thursday, 26 March 2015 19:08

A young man sat hunched over a computer screen in the morning hours just outside the Salt Lake City BSA Headquarters watching people miles away dropping off sacks of canned food items, and also monitoring YRC (The old Yellow Freight) dispatching trucks from their headquarters to pick up sites around the valley. Brandon Bauman, an Amateur Radio Operator, was part of that group known as Hams that each year assists the Boy Scouts in the Scouting for Food Project providing communications.

Brandon Bauman KG7RWO at BSA Headquarters

Scouting For Food

Written by David T. Bauman KF7MCF - Last Updated Thursday, 26 March 2015 19:08

Ham Radio Operators are known around the world for their help in the communities where they live, providing assistance to groups like the Boy Scouts, the Red Cross, and many other organizations that they serve without compensation in many ways and different projects, not just in local and regional emergencies which they are well known for. They are expected to provide their own equipment, and come ready with needed food, water, and shelter that they need for up to three days. They also provide their own power source, often solar panels and portable generators to keep their batteries charged for around the clock operation if needed.

Scouting For Food

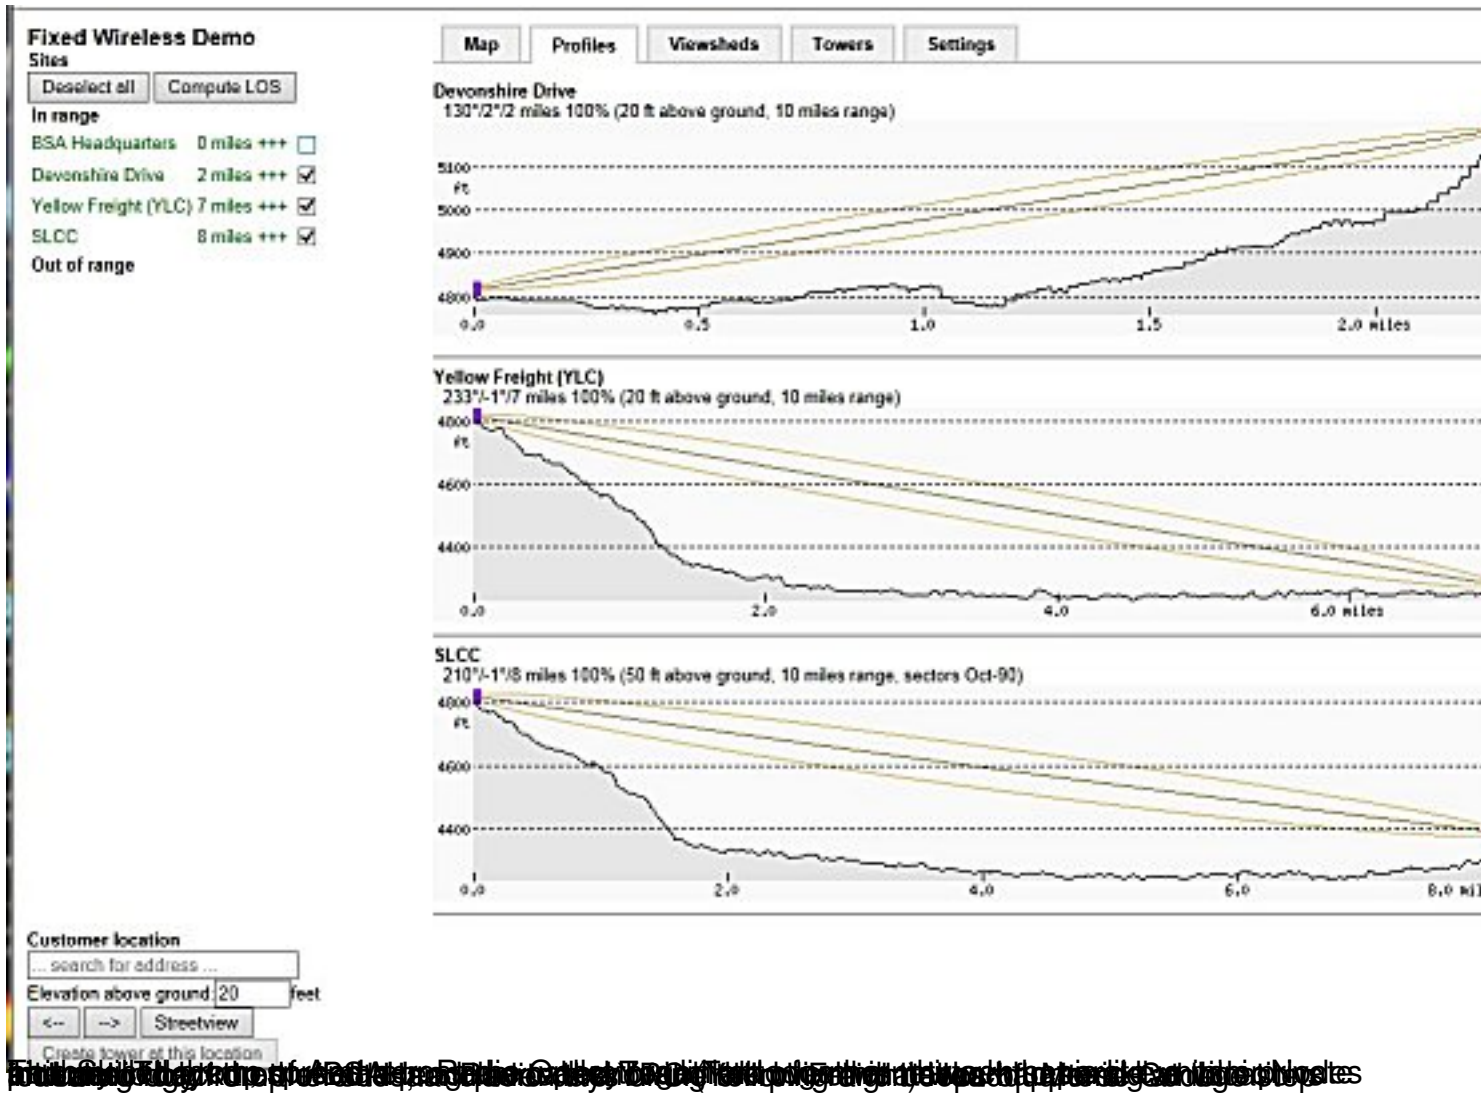

Written by David T. Bauman KF7MCF - Last Updated Thursday, 26 March 2015 19:08

Scouting For Food is a program where you can help your community by donating food to the food bank. You can also help your community by donating money to the food bank. You can also help your community by donating clothes to the food bank. You can also help your community by donating books to the food bank. You can also help your community by donating toys to the food bank. You can also help your community by donating furniture to the food bank. You can also help your community by donating electronics to the food bank. You can also help your community by donating household items to the food bank. You can also help your community by donating anything you can spare to the food bank.

Scouting For Food

Written by David T. Bauman KF7MCF - Last Updated Thursday, 26 March 2015 19:08

Scouting For Food

Written by David T. Bauman KF7MCF - Last Updated Thursday, 26 March 2015 19:08

TeamTalk v. 4.5.2

Client Me Users Channels Server Help

"KF7MCF Netbook" (7)

- BSA HQ Video - Brandon
- BSA HQ Video - Brandon
- KC7HOU-1
- KD0BAW - Randy
- ke6qzu-Charles
- KF7MCF Dave Bauman
- KG7OHV-Robert

Chat Video (2) Desktops Files

KC7HOU-1

RX: 0.75KB TX: 11.77KB

3:00pm on 3/26/15 Home Radio Club Radio Club KC7OHV Radio Club Home Page what is a VHF radio morning,

Fixed Wireless Demo

Site

Disconnect all Compute LQI

In range

- Dependable Drive 0 miles
- BSA Headquarters 2 miles
- Follow Flight (N.E.) 8 miles
- SLOC 8 miles

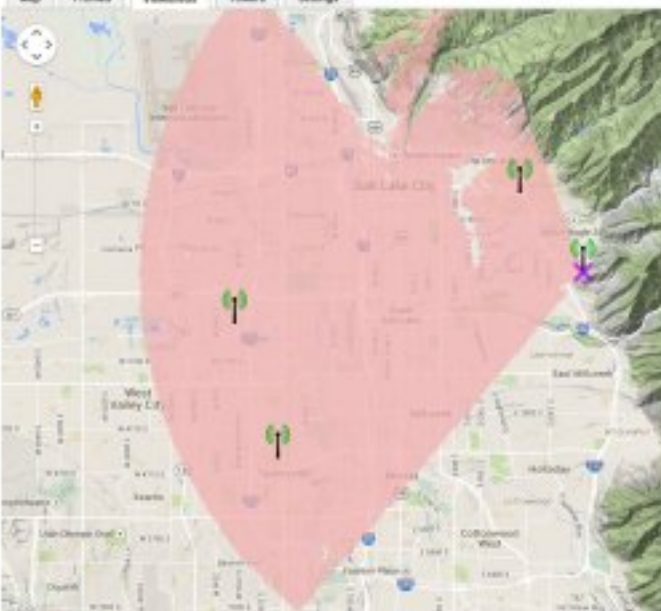

Out of range

Customer locations

search for address

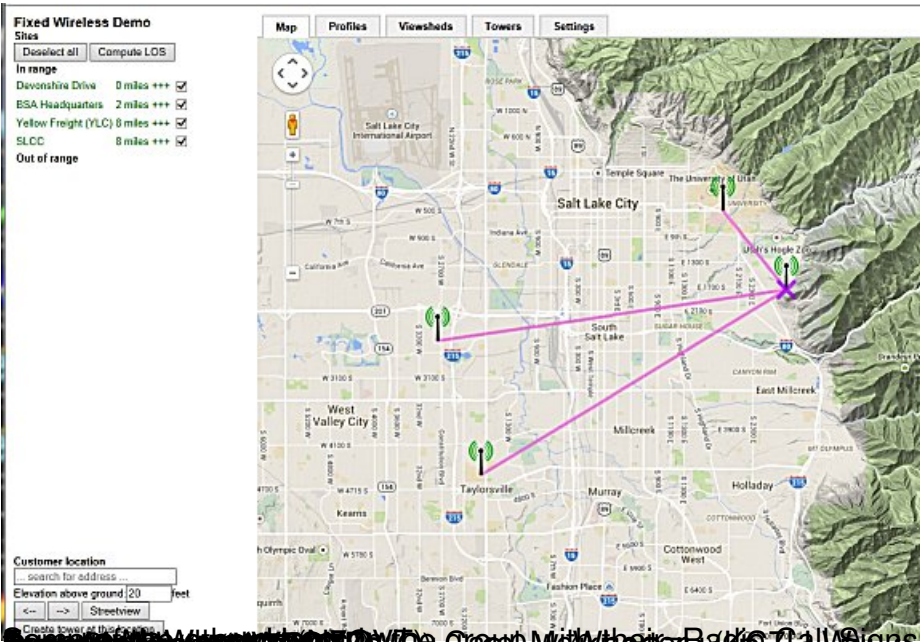

Deviation above ground: 20 feet

Map Profiles Viewsheds Towers Settings

Scouting For Food

Written by David T. Bauman KF7MCF - Last Updated Thursday, 26 March 2015 19:08

Scouting For Food (SFF) Group with their Radio Club (RC) were located in the city of Salt Lake City (SLC) (NECZ) (Nancy Biersen (RD0BAW))